Course Description

The Percussion Instruments course is a well-rounded study of methods and techniques needed to be a successful elementary or secondary school music teacher. This course will encompass all areas of concert percussion and prepare students for teaching in a band and percussion ensemble setting.

Students taking this course will be required to demonstrate a basic understanding and performance technique in multiple areas of percussion concentration. Strategically planned master classes will focus on each area demonstrating the basic techniques and will be followed by student practice and performance. Online video/ listening and/ or reading assignments will further enhance topic understanding.

Other areas of percussion studies will expose the students to; drum set, world percussion, marching percussion, electronic percussion, and repair and maintenance of percussion instruments.

In addition to individual etude preparation on snare drum, mallets, timpani, traps and drum set, all students will perform in a class percussion ensemble and prepare a final presentation.

Academic Integrity Policy

Academic Integrity is a commitment to the core values of honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility and their role in ensuring the health and vigor of the academic and creative community. Please note that students are encouraged to contact their instructors and/or the University librarians for guidance in maintaining academic integrity in their work.

Absences

Students may be absent once or late twice during the semester without affecting their attendance grade. Any absence or lateness in excess of that will result in a lowered grade. If a student is more than 15 minutes late to class, he/she will be marked absent. If a student is absent more than two times during the semester, a grade of "F" will be entered. University Policies on Absences may be found in the UArts Course Catalog.

Technology

Since this class is primarily performance based, limited technology will be used. Students are not required to bring laptops to class.

Class Format

All classes will focus on discussion of percussion pedagogy and the development of performance skills and techniques. Students will work individually and in groups. A large portion of this courses work will be completed during class time. Students will frequently demonstrate a knowledge of material and technique through in-class performances individually or in small groups.

How to be Successful in this Class

Policy on Academic Progress and Student Responsibility can be found in the Course Catalogue.

Educational Accessibility

Students who believe they are eligible for course accommodations under the ADA or Section 504 or have had accommodations or modifications in the past, should contact the Office of Educational Accessibility at 215-717-6616 or access@uarts.edu to arrange for appropriate accommodations and to obtain an accommodations letter, if applicable. Faculty can provide course accommodations/modifications only after receipt of an approved accommodations letter from the Office of Educational Accessibility. Accommodation letters can be provided to qualified students at any time during the semester, but grades earned before the letter is received by the faculty cannot be changed.

Official Basic Needs Clause

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries, accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or living in a safe and stable environment – and believes this may affect their performance in this course – is urged to contact Student Services in Gershman Hall (room 311). Students also can email studentaffairs@uarts.edu. Student Services will provide students with any available resources.

Official Wellness Statement

UArts students have access to free, confidential wellness services via the Counseling Center and Health Services offices. For counseling services, please visit walk-in hours (Monday - Friday, 11:00am - 1:00pm) in Gershman Hall (room 307). Counseling provides trained staff interested in supporting you through your academic journey as artists. Visit our website – www.uarts.edu/counseling – for more information. Students with medical concerns or in need of help from the campus nurse should visit Health Services in Gershman Hall (room 306), call 215-717-6652, or email healthservices@uarts.edu.
